ABOUT US

We are Shruthi and Nitish. We are a loving, hardworking and kind couple, who are happy to share whatever we can with others. We love our fur baby and include him in everything from vacations to holiday dinners. We enjoy traveling, hiking, or going to the dog park and playing with him and his friends.

Nitish works in IT and loves video games and movies, Shruthi is a business owner who loves reading and photography. Both of us are foodies, and love hanging with our close friends and family. Shruthi is organized, and Nitish is the calmer one. We have been each other's champion for 21 years and will be so for the rest of our lives.

OUR HOME & PET

We live in Metrowest, Massachusetts, in a town that is filled with mom and pop stores, farms, greenery and incredible schools. Our house is right by a rail trail that is perfect for biking, walking and running all through the year and our house has a large yard that is getting fenced in so we can build our own garden oasis to enjoy and eat from. Our fur baby loves the yard and loves chasing squirrels and rabbits away from his mom's vegetables and makes full use of the trail behind our house. He is the most loyal, protective, patient big brother a child could ask for.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

Our dream is to become parents. We were foster parents to a beautiful baby for a year, and learned so much about parenting, each other, and our abilities. We tried IVF multiple times and failed. We are not able to have a biological child, but adoption has always been a part of our plan to grow our family. After being foster parents we knew how much we loved being parents. Our house was much more of a home with a child in it. We can't wait to welcome a baby into our hearts and family.

OUR FAMILIES & TRADITIONS

We each have an older brother, and they both have children. Sadly, Nitish's father passed away last year, but his mother and Shruthi's parents are alive and well. Shruthi's brother and family live close to us, and we see them often. We celebrate holidays together, and alternate hosting them. We have aunts and uncles in the state, around the country, and all over the world. We are closer to Shruthi's brother's family, simply due to proximity, and have been a part of their and their children's lives. Our oldest nephew was named by Shruthi.

We still celebrate multiple festivals of different religions throughout the year because although both of us were raised in predominantly Hindu households, Shruthi's mother is a Christian, and we have always grown up with friends from all religions. We keep in touch with our extended families through Whatsapp, emails, and texts. Some of our families have family get-togethers every two years for everyone to attend. We talk to our parents several times a week and FaceTime with them. When we had our foster baby with us, our parents would FaceTime with us every day during breakfast so that they could talk to him. They can't wait to add another baby to our family.

OUR LETTER TO A

LOVING MOTHER

Dear Expectant Mother,

This must be a confusing and difficult time for you, trying to decide the best options for you and your child. We hope you are being supported in all ways possible, and we admire you for choosing adoption as a possible option.

If you do choose to go down the path of adoption, we would like for you to know we promise to respect your decisions that come with it with regard to openness and contact. We promise we will love, adore, and cherish your child, and we will provide a safe, healthy, happy home and ensure every opportunity within our reach is made available. Our love will be unconditional, and we will raise them with values that will stand them in good stead. We will lead by example with kindness, openness, and respect and ensure their success in life.

We promise they will know how incredibly brave and strong you are, so they can appreciate the sacrifice you made for them. Their origin story will never be erased, and they will always know everything came from love.

With Love,

SHRUTHI & NITISH
