about us

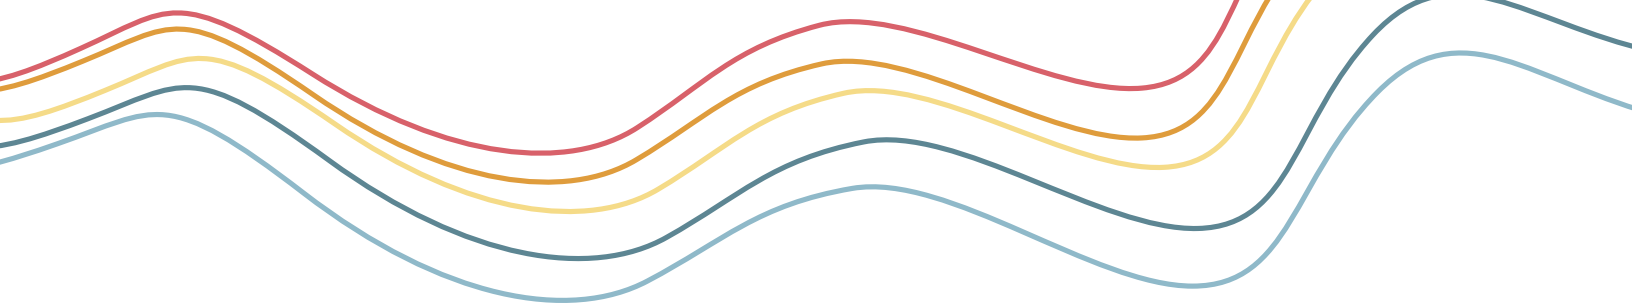

Hi!! We are Jacqueline and Kc. We have been together now for ten years and are celebrating our seventh wedding anniversary. We have known each other since middle school and even dated in eighth grade. We love sports, crafts, and anything outdoors—fishing, hiking, camping, and keeping up with our little six-acre farm. We love to joke with each other and keep things lighthearted with laughter. We love to travel, whether domestically or internationally. Jackie is a kind, loving, funny, and caring stay-at-home mommy, and it shows when you see the love our children give back to her. Kc is hard working, funny, loving, and caring, and our children absolutely light up when he comes home from a day at work.

OUR HOME + PETS

Our home is full of laughter and song from our three children, and even our dog, Lucy, joins in the fun. The outside is full of a variety of birds singing, chickens clucking, and bees buzzing. We also house our brother's pig while he and his fiancée are waiting to build their home. We began keeping bees last year and hope to add some more farm animals in the future. We live on six acres that back into a lake property that is used for hiking, camping, fishing, and other non-motor water activities. On days we want to get out of the house, we find ourselves visiting the animals at the local farms. Our oldest LOVES finding treats at the farm store.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

Although we were able to have three beautiful children, the pregnancies and deliveries did not come without their complications. Because of this, we made the tough decision to no longer try to get pregnant. After a lot of careful thought and consideration, we decided we wanted to grow our family further through adoption. We are so excited for the opportunity to grow our family, and our children are excited for a new brother or sister to play with.

AND TRADITIONS

We are both the oldest of three and grew up close with our extended family as well. Our cousins growing up were like having extra brothers and sisters! Currently, Kc's family is more local, and we are able to see them during family gatherings as well as other unplanned days. Although Jackie's cousins have moved out of state, we do get to see them when they come home to visit, whether on a whim or for a planned function; you would never know they live out of state. We still communicate frequently with family through group chats and an occasional "Hey, I called to find out how to get slime out of my kid's hair!" as they all have kids of their own at various ages!

The friends we hold dear we have known since childhood and our teenage years, and now our children get to know and become friends with each other. We have a pretty large community, from both blood and love. It's something we are excited to share with our current children and any others we are blessed to have.

DEAR

*expectant
mother*

We first want to share our gratitude toward you and your loved ones who support you in your decision to choose adoption. Your incredible strength and love in making such a selfless decision does not go unnoticed. We know this is not easy, and we deeply respect your courage and care for your child's future.

Our hearts are open, and we would be honored to provide a loving, stable, and nurturing home for your baby. Family means everything to us, and we promise to love, cherish, support, and guide our child with all our love and happiness.

As the parents of three children, we understand the rollercoaster of emotions that take place throughout your day. It takes a very strong and thoughtful person to choose the process of finding the perfect match for her baby, and we can only hope everything we describe within our family is what you are wanting for your little one.

If you choose us, we will ensure our child knows about your love and bravery in choosing what you felt was best for them. Please know we are here to support you and are committed to honoring your wishes throughout this journey.

With gratitude and love,

Kc. Jacqueline, and Family
