ABOUT US

Adventure Awaits! Sabrina and Arthur took on this mantra from day one. Introduced through a mutual friend, our journey began with a lighthearted exchange, leading to our first official date—a four-mile run, reflecting our shared passion for an active lifestyle. We love hiking, camping, and embracing new experiences. Arthur enjoys reading, working on vehicles, and continuous learning, while Sabrina, an artist at heart, finds beauty in everything, from refinishing furniture to home décor.

We have thriving careers. Arthur has spent over 20 years in corporate compliance, enjoying every aspect of his role. Sabrina, a Financial Controller, recently earned her MBA. She is passionate about mentoring her team, guiding them toward their own career aspirations. Whether in accounting or elsewhere in the organization, she loves helping others discover their passions. Together, we embrace life's adventures, both personally and professionally.

OUR HOME & PETS

Our home in Georgia is in a wonderful community 45 minutes outside of Atlanta, offering the perfect balance of small-town charm and city convenience. Whether exploring the botanical garden or spending a thrilling day at Six Flags, we love finding new activities to enjoy together. Our neighbors are close friends, always ready to lend a hand or host a fun evening. The school district offers diverse teaching styles, ensuring each child receives a personalized education.

Our townhome is our happy place, with three bedrooms providing space for Sabrina's home office, her 16-year-old son, Sabien, from a previous relationship, and our two playful labradoodles, Bruce and Charles. Sabien enjoys video games and riding his electric scooter, always staying active. Bruce, our two-year-old labradoodle, is sweet and adventurous, while Charles, at six, is the calm older brother who enjoys both playtime and solitude. Our home is filled with love, laughter, and excitement for the future.

what led us to adoption

Adoption is the path we have chosen to grow our family, and we are incredibly excited for this journey. After Sabrina's hysterectomy due to medical complications, we knew biological children were not an option, but our desire to become parents never changed. We believe love, not just biology, creates a family, and we are eager to provide a child with a warm, supportive, and nurturing home. Close friends who have adopted have inspired us, reinforcing our belief that this is the right path. We look forward to sharing our love, values, and adventures with a child, guiding them as they grow. Parenthood is a journey we are ready to embrace, and we cannot wait for the moment we welcome a little one into our lives.

OUR FAMILY & Traditions

Gratitude is a cornerstone of our family. Each night at dinner, we share one or two things we're thankful for, whether it's something simple we enjoyed that day or essential blessings like clean water and electricity. Life moves fast, and this daily tradition reminds us to slow down, appreciate what we have, and cherish our loving family and home.

Christmas is our absolute favorite holiday! We love every moment leading up to it, especially spending time with extended family. A cherished tradition is the annual ornament exchange at Arthur's aunt's house, where we pick, wrap, and swap ornaments in a fun, unpredictable game. It builds excitement leading up to our Christmas dinner, where each family contributes a dish to share the joy (and the workload).

Arthur's mom, Linda, is an amazing grandmother who adores spending time with her grandchildren. Though our family is spread out, we stay connected daily through calls, photos, and funny memes, keeping our bond strong. Our close-knit family is our greatest support system, and we are incredibly grateful for the love and laughter we share.
