ABOUT US

We have different interests and careers, but we also share a lot of interests and hobbies. We both enjoy walking and being around friends and family. We are both very caring, loving, and friendly people to everyone. One of us works as a director for a local television station, while the other one works at a local mall kiosk. We enjoy game nights and movie nights with friends and family. While our hobbies may vary from crafts to sports, we always find ways to enjoy our hobbies and interests together so we strengthen as a family. We are also an interfaith couple, and not only do we learn about each other's faiths but we celebrate each other's backgrounds. We have an extremely happy home life together, and we are excited to see what the future holds! Bonus fact: One of us knows Spanish, and the other knows some Hebrew!

OUR HOME & PET

We currently live in Michigan in a townhome. Our neighborhood is diverse, with people from diverse age groups as well as different cultural backgrounds. We have lots of parks not too far away as well as playgrounds. We also have different places for all ages, including movies, music, museums, and other places for any child to learn. Where we live in Michigan, there are a good number of schools that provide a great education for children. We also have a cat in our home who is very friendly and can also be very playful and energetic at times. Our cat has a warm, loving, curious, and gentle personality and nature, so we both see her in the future being amazing as a child's playmate and best friend.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

We have a strong, unconditional love for each other, so we want to come together to love, support, and raise any child we are lucky to have join our lives and family. We have not been blessed with a child naturally in our marriage, and we have had very long discussions about every possible avenue for us to have one. When we weighed all of our options, adoption made the most sense for us to grow our family. We are very excited for this opportunity to grow our family and show unlimited love to whoever we are blessed by adopting. We know we can give any child that enters our lives a very warm and loving home where they will feel safe and loved at all times.

OUR FAMILY & traditions

We have a large extended family. On one side of our family, there are many aunts, uncles, and cousins—too many to count of diverse ages. There is still one grandparent living on this side of the family. There are also two married and loving parents and a brother and sister on this side of the family.

On the other side of our family, there are also two married and loving parents but no siblings. There are also a couple of aunts as well as an uncle and cousins. Both sides of our family are warm, tight knit, and extremely supportive and loving. We always look forward to seeing them as we share a strong bond.

We have different traditions with each side of our family. Some of the main traditions are playing board games as well as watching movies. We look forward to Christmas and the Fourth of July with them as we have family get-togethers. We also love when we are able to go on family vacations and create more memories with whoever is there. Our last two trips included going to Hawaii for vacation and going to Illinois for a family cousin's bar mitzvah.

DEAR
*expectant

To A Loving Mother,

Thank you for considering us to be the parents of your sweet baby. We have both been praying for you and your baby for a long time. We know this is an extremely difficult situation, and we admire your love and selflessness in even considering this option. We would love to have an ongoing relationship with you in any way you feel comfortable. We want your child to know their history and forever have a strong love and respect for you.

We have been married for almost seven years, and we have strong mutual love and respect and a strong foundation. We have so much love for each other, and we want to share that immense love and tenderness with a baby. We have a close bond with our extended family, and they are loving and supportive. Your baby will be immensely loved and welcomed. If you choose us, we will give your baby a life of love, faith, joy, and values. We also promise they will live in a home filled with love, warmth, nutritious family meals, affection, laughter, fun, and positivity.

Thank you again for considering us, and please know that in this difficult place in life, we would love to be a source of comfort and hope to you. Life is full of miracles, and this precious little one is that: a miracle. We are extremely excited to potentially be a part of your life journey and you as a part of ours.

Humbled and blessed,

Kelly and Mark
