ABOUT ME

I'm Jillian, and I'm looking to create my family through adoption. I am a daughter, sister, friend, and, most importantly, a "titi" (aunt) to amazing twins. I love to spend my time with family and friends making memories together and simply enjoying each other's company. I have a bachelor's in science and a master's degree in physician assistant. I work in healthcare as a physician assistant in an urgent care setting with flexibility in my schedule. In my spare time, I tend to study and read to keep up to date on evolving medical data and information related to my field of work. I also love to read, do puzzles, complete sudoku, and be outdoors, whether walking, running, hiking, playing sports with my niece and nephew, or simply having an impromptu picnic on the front lawn for dinner.

my home

I live in a carriage-style house in a neighborhood with the most amazing neighbors and lots of kids. I have made this house into a home ready with a welcoming bedroom for a new baby. The community I reside in has activities that include stroller meetups and exercise, library events, summer movie nights, and holiday events from September through the New Year, making this community really have that hometown feel. I have a large deck and grassy area to play for hours. I am close to zoos, aquariums, amusement parks, state parks, and local parks, all of which I frequent often. I cannot wait to make memories as a future family.

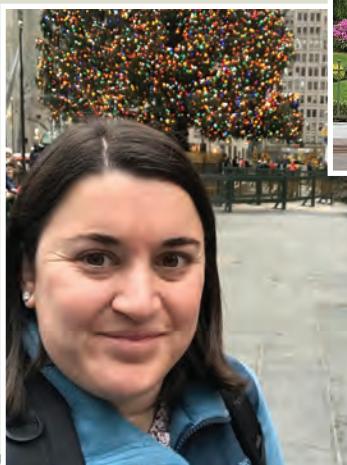

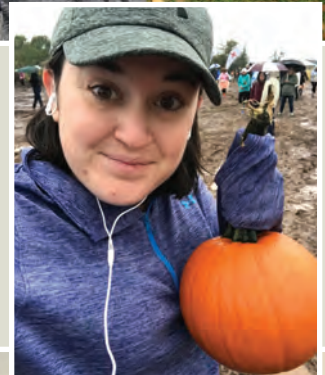

what led me to adoption

To me, family is everything; however, creating my own family has brought me on a different journey. I am a single woman ready to share my love and to nurture a little one by expanding my family through adoption. I decided on adoption after going through many different options, including testing/consults for IUI, IVF, and even a sperm donor. Throughout this process, I realized how many women look to adoption agencies when they find out about their pregnancy. I am looking for the opportunity to give your child a loving, nurturing home. I am excited to be on this journey!

my family and TRADITIONS

Family is a huge part of my upbringing. I am the youngest daughter; I have three older siblings, two brothers and a sister. My eldest brother has a son who was born when I was ten years old. We grew up essentially as siblings and have the most amazing bond that still exists to this day. My other brother currently resides out of state and works as a firefighter in a large city. I visit multiple times a year to stay active in their lives.

My sister currently resides just 20 minutes from me and lives with my parents. She is a single mom to the most amazing twins, my niece and nephew, who have given me the most amazing title as “titi.” It is a job I take very seriously. I enjoy watching them grow and having sleepovers; they even have their own room in my house!

I have a large family with lots of aunts and uncles and cousins on both my maternal and paternal side that we stay in touch with, all local to the area. We tend to throw annual holiday parties and birthday parties for all the littles. We all grew up close enjoying similar experiences and even attending the same schools!

To a
Loving Mother

Dear Expectant Mother,

I have always wanted to be a mother, for as long as I can remember, which brings me to this adoption journey. I understand this is a very difficult time and decision for you, and I understand the wide variety of emotions that must be going on throughout the entire process all the way until the very end. This is a very personal decision for each person in this process, and I understand the reasoning behind adoption choices varies from person to person.

I hope that soon we can connect together, start to talk, make things feel more real, and build that connection so you can feel confident in me as the potential mother of your child. I have unconditional love, time, and energy to give to your child and cannot wait to make memories to cherish for a lifetime. I can provide a loving, stable home full of great opportunities, with a large village of supporters around me, including friends and family who cannot wait for me to expand my own family and be a part of the journey as well. I cannot wait to have our paths cross, connect with each other, and intertwine our journeys together into one. Thank you for considering me!

With love,

Jillian
