OUR JOURNEY TO ADOPTION

about us

Our love story began when we met at an exercise class and quickly discovered a deep connection after sharing our dreams, values, and aspirations. Our connection grew into a deep love, and we decided to marry. Flora is compassionate and loving, and she cares about the world around her. This comes out in her work as an educator. Mara is caring, thoughtful, and committed to helping others. She works for an urban hospital helping doctors communicate with patients in a productive and sensitive manner. We enjoy cooking, exercising, traveling, and making memories with family and friends. We are filled with excitement as we eagerly await the next chapter in our love story: parenthood. Our love for each other is endless, and we are ready to extend that love to a child and to create a family full of laughter, support, and unconditional love.

our home & pets

Our home is warm and inviting, filled with daily laughter and cherished memories. We live in a highly rated school district within a diverse community that brings families together through events like carnivals and parades. In the fall, we love walking to the cider mill and searching for scarecrows hidden around town. The best part about our area is that there are many parks, lakes, and nature trails to explore. Our three cats add even more joy and warmth to our home. Sammy always knows when we need a comforting cuddle, Joey keeps us entertained with his playful antics, and Rocky loves to sit on our laps. They fill our lives with happiness and teach us about compassion, patience, and the beauty of unconditional love.

our hobbies & passions

We would love to share a glimpse of the joyful life we see for our child. Our home is a center of creativity and adventure, where we dive into home improvement projects, build and assemble all kinds of creations, and find joy in baking and building Legos. Our garden is a place of discovery, and we love traveling to new, exciting places. Our days are filled with bike rides, swimming, weight lifting, cooking, and watching plays and movies together. We believe these activities create a caring, lively, and active environment. We are eager to pass on our love for hands-on projects, exploration, and physical activity, fostering a well-rounded upbringing filled with curiosity, creativity, and a lifelong love for learning.

our families & traditions

Our extended family is part of our daily lives, rich with siblings, grandparents, nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles, and cousins. We share laughter, stories, and we love one another. We spend lots of time with our relatives celebrating birthdays, cheering at their events, and sharing meals together.

We value the lessons they teach us and the unique perspectives they bring to our family. Our family traditions are important to us and we are passionate about creating new ones. Sunday nights are special in our home. We gather with friends and family for dinner, share stories from our week, play games and enjoy each other's company. It is a time filled with laughter, connection and delicious food. Other traditions we are excited to share are: nightly story time, Sunday morning breakfasts when the kids can help prepare pancakes and waffles, birthday traditions with a treasure hunt for presents, and nature walks.

Our family embraces each person for who they are and eagerly await the arrival of a new family member to welcome them with the same love and warmth that characterizes our close-knit family.

OUR LETTER TO A

loving mother

Dear Expectant Mother,

We want to express our deep admiration for the strength and courage you're displaying during this incredible journey of bringing new life into the world. The decision you're making is undoubtedly one of the most challenging and selfless acts imaginable, and we want you to know how much we respect and honor your choices. We have been dreaming of becoming parents for as long as we can remember, and your act of love gives us hope that our dreams might finally come true.

As we sit here writing this letter, our hearts are filled with a deep sense of gratitude and anticipation. We want to assure you that if you choose us as parents, we will dedicate ourselves wholeheartedly to providing a loving, stable, and nurturing home. Our desire to become parents is driven by an overwhelming love for children and a commitment to ensuring they have every opportunity to flourish in life.

We believe family is about unconditional love, trust, and support. The child would always know their story and how they were cherished from the very beginning. We promise to honor your role in their birth, have open communication with you and ensure they grow up knowing the incredible love that led to their adoption.

We are excited at the prospect of welcoming a child into our hearts and our home, and we hope you'll consider us to be a part of this beautiful journey.

With heartfelt gratitude,

Mara and Flora
