about us

Our story has always felt written in the stars. We met online in 2020 when the world was a scary place, and we comforted each other through it all. We knew we were a match when we realized we both love to laugh, travel, and explore the world around us. We both work from home, Aaron as an analyst for the State and Sean as an attorney for an insurance company. We are a healthy combination of nesters and adventurers. Aaron's creativity knows no bounds. His passion for improving our home is always at the forefront. He spends his free time interior decorating, gardening, keeping fit, and joining Sean in outdoor adventures. Sean loves woodworking and is an avid outdoorsman who is always planning new mountain adventures, no matter the season. Together, we keep our family first, and we are beyond excited to open our hearts and home to a new family member.

our home + pets

We moved to a quaint, safe little town in the foothills for the awesome views, historic significance, and access to the outdoors. We knew we had found our forever home when we walked through the front door and looked out our windows to see postcard-worthy views of mountain ranges all around us. We live on a hillside overlooking the town, and our property has plenty of space for our family to enjoy as it grows. Our neighbors and the folks we meet in town have given us a warm, small-town welcome. Our sweet dogs, Homer and Cooper, both doodles, became instant friends and have been inseparable since we met. Our two adorable chickens, Lily and Marmalade, are also part of our family.

what led us to adoption

We have always wanted children and were thrilled to begin the adoption process. We knew we were ready to start a family after settling into our home, planning financially, and building ties to our community. We are close with one of Aaron's cousins and his wife, who have a three-year-old son. We have enjoyed seeing him grow over the years and have formed a special connection with him. He has stolen our hearts. We are blessed to have such a great set of friends and family who will surely be the bedrock of a good upbringing and provide a caring environment for our future child. We cannot wait to share our lives with your baby!

Gean

Nearly all our extended family lives within two hours of us, but we also have family nearby. We've both been welcomed into each other's families with love and open arms. We make a special effort to keep family get-togethers a priority. Whether playing board games, boating on the lake, or being just plain silly together, it's always good family time.

Sean is the youngest of three and has a large extended family. He has enjoyed being part of his nieces and nephews' lives and watching them grow up. Experiencing being an uncle planted the seed to become a nurturing father who will pass down his love of learning and the outdoors.

Aaron grew up near his grandparents and cousins with whom he remains very close. Family values run deep in his family, and there are several annual traditions for the extended family to get together, including holidays, vacations, visits to theme parks, and camping. Many of his family members have begun to have children, and spending time with them has fueled our desire to adopt tenfold.

We believe family is what you make it, and we are excited by the opportunity to grow ours, hopefully with your help. We can only imagine how challenging these times must be for you and know you are faced with an even more challenging decision. We do not take this lightly and are grateful for your interest in us. If allowed, we would be honored to support you every step of the way.

We knew we wanted to start a family early on in our relationship and have talked endlessly about it, making plans and meaningfully considering our roles as parents. Please be assured our instincts as parents, core values, and fun-loving personalities will provide your baby a promising future of hugs, good advice, and dad jokes in a safe and loving environment.

In our relationship, we love generously and know that will become apparent as we get to know each other. Our extended families have been filled with anticipation since we announced our plans to adopt. We cannot wait to share our passion for the outdoors, our love of learning, and our kindness with a new member of our family. We will embrace your baby as our own, nurturing their strengths and encouraging them through any challenges they face.

We appreciate you considering partnering with us on this journey and for hopefully making our dream a reality.
