ABOUT US

Angela is a stay-at-home mother fortunate to work a part-time job from home training educators on content and curriculum. As her parents are first generation to the U.S., she grew up speaking Spanish and Greek fluently and loves each culture dearly. Kevin is a successful sales executive for a learning management software. Kevin also grew up cultured (Italian and Irish). We met in 2012 and realized how much we have in common: celebrating our traditions, traveling, living a strong Catholic faith, and being active members of our community. Our wedding in 2015 was full of laughter and dancing. We have since traveled to many beautiful places, grown our home by adding two beautiful daughters, and made a name for ourselves in our community. Our family loves being active, volunteering at church/school events, demonstrating our faith, and attending local community/sporting events. We cannot wait to add to our family!

OUR HOME + PETS

We have a large, beautiful home located in a suburban area of Georgia. Our county has top-ranked schools in the state. We have a wonderful neighborhood where everyone knows each other and says hello while walking or riding bikes. We are a short distance to a major university with wonderful restaurants, event centers, museums, festivals, parks, and kid-friendly events. There is so much fun to be had and unlimited opportunities for our children as they grow. Our home has a big backyard with a playground and lots of fun toys. Our two pets, a cat and dog, are on the older side and more laid back these days. While both move a bit slower, they are extremely welcoming of kids and will be to our new baby!

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

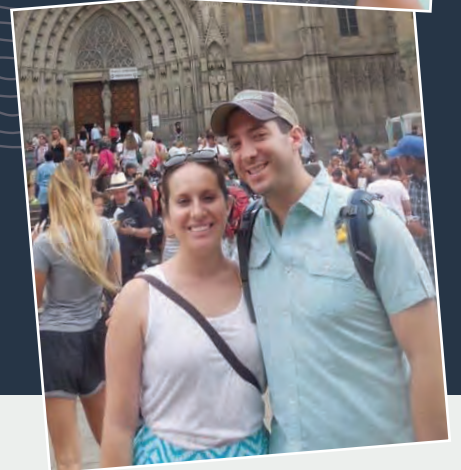

Since we first met, we have often talked about and felt called to adopt. Growing up Catholic, the idea of a large, loving family was always on our minds. Our family has so much to offer: unconditional love, a strong family bond, solid faith, and a core belief in education. We want to share this opportunity with an adopted child. Our children are our top priority, and a new baby will receive the same unconditional love we give to our two daughters now. They are both excited and cannot wait to add a new member to our family. We already love our new baby!

our family

AND

Traditions

On Angela's side of the family, we celebrate our cultures by teaching our children about Hispanic traditions during the holidays and celebrating Greek Easter (Opa!). We love to cook and eat delicious traditional foods. Many of her family members live in Colombia and Greece, and many others live in Georgia and Florida. When together, we talk, laugh, dance, and just have great quality time together.

On Kevin's side of the family, we alternate all major holidays, meeting up in New York, Virginia, and Georgia. Our new baby would enjoy seven cousins to spend countless fun, playful hours with and celebrate many vacations at the beach and in the mountains.

We also enjoy spending quality time with friends we see as family. We have a strong network of friends who are available to help us when needed and get together for fun playdates. Our friends adore our family, and we adore theirs. Our baby will be loved and cherished by each of our family members and friends, and we cannot wait for them to meet our sweet baby!

dear

EXPECTANT MOTHER,

Your courage to pursue adoption is beyond admirable and a decision we cherish greatly. We understand this decision is not easy and that it is out of complete love for your child. We want you to know our family will take care of your baby with unconditional love and care. We will provide them with every opportunity to grow to be well rounded and successful. Teaching them to be good citizens, sharing acts of love and kindness, appreciating a strong family dynamic, and growing in faith are our top priorities.

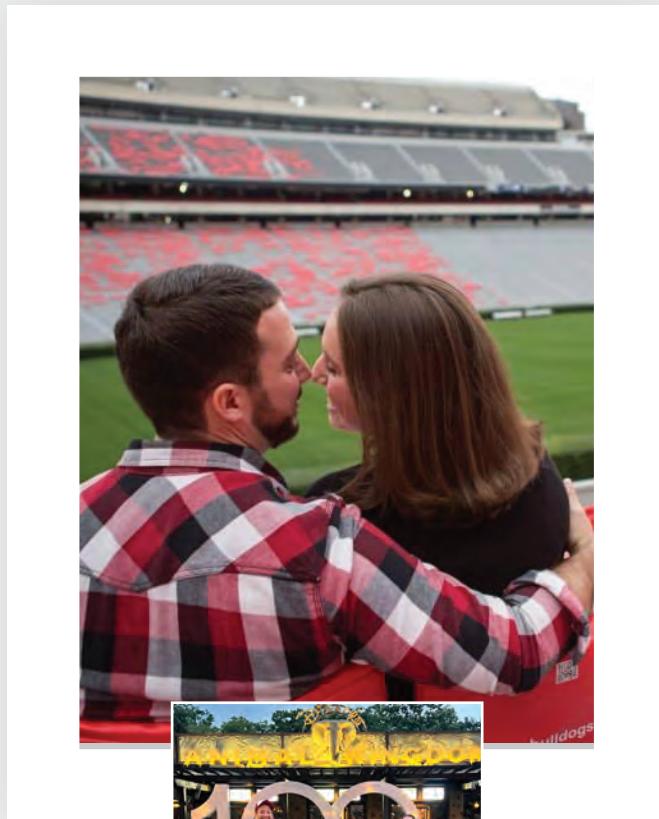

If you choose us, we will put everything we have into making sure our baby knows and respects culture, respects life, and lives day to day surrounded by laughter and love. They will be presented with wonderful opportunities to travel to new and fun locations across the globe, be exposed to a well-rounded education, and explore all the sports, hobbies, and activities that interest them. They will learn to speak Spanish as Angela and her mother will speak to our new baby so they grow up learning the language fluently.

The baby will also know you. They will know how important you are to them and that your decision was a selfless act. Our daughters already love their new sibling and are thankful to you. Our daughters cannot wait to include them in our family and our traditions.

If you choose us, we will be eternally grateful to you. We cannot wait to meet the new baby and begin this incredible journey.

WITH LOVE,

Kevin + Angela
