Building Our Family

about us

After four years of marriage and nine years together, we are more than ready and thrilled to begin building our family. Kelly describes Bryan as the most amazing lifelong partner, a driven sales manager and small business owner and a passionate baseball pitching coach. He is dependable, fun, silly, kind, hardworking, friendly, and loyal. She is so excited to see him as a father! Bryan sees Kelly as his perfect match, an exceptional admin assistant, and the best person he knows. She is kind, outgoing, goofy, driven, compassionate, and loving. She is going to be the most amazing mother. Together, we love going on long walks with our dog, Luna, traveling and exploring new places, spending time with friends and family, and UGA football games! We can't wait to experience the joys of life and new adventures with a baby.

our home + pets

We are thrilled to have just moved into our first home in a gorgeous neighborhood with a pool, playground, nature trail, and lake behind our house. Our twelve-year-old dog, Luna, is so excited to run around in our fenced backyard, and we can't wait for the day when Luna and her future baby sibling get to play together outside! We are so grateful to live in a safe, family-friendly community with highly rated schools (the same school district Kelly grew up in!). As we've now built the house of our dreams, we are beyond excited to build the family of our dreams and create lifelong memories inside the home.

what led us to adoption

Long before we were ever married, we knew we wanted to adopt a child one day. During Kelly's many years of nannying, she absolutely fell in love with all of the precious babies and children. When we found out about our joint infertility issues, we knew our calling to adopt was the plan that was meant to be all along. We are so grateful for the gift of adoption and the unconditional love, courage, and strength from birthmothers. We are so ready to pour our entire hearts into the child we have the honor of raising, giving them the most magical, loving, and fun life imaginable.

more about

our family and traditions

We are so blessed to both have such loving, close-knit families. Bryan has two sisters and one brother, and Kelly has two brothers. In total, we have eight nieces and nephews who bring such joy to our lives. We love going to their sporting events, playing outside on the trampoline, competing in board games, and, best of all, snuggling while reading bedtime stories. One of our favorite memories with our two nephews was taking them on a special VIP tour through the UGA baseball facility where Uncle Bryan used to play!

Both of our parents are the absolute best grandparents, and they are so excited for a new baby in our family. Not only did they give us wonderful childhoods but they go above and beyond to be an integral part of their grandchildren's lives, taking the kids on fun adventures to the beach, campsites, theme parks, etc., and showering them with love each and every time they're together.

Holidays are the most fun in our families, full of laughter, games, and lots of delicious food! We especially love seeing the magic of Christmas through our nieces and nephews' eyes, and we can't wait to bring that magic to life in our own home with children.

We admire your strength and courage on this journey and want you to know you are loved, respected, and supported unconditionally. We know this is likely the most difficult experience and decision of your life, and throughout the uncertainty, we want to be a source of stability, confidence, and reliability for you and your baby.

We are so grateful you've taken the time to read about us and consider us as adoptive parents to your precious baby. If you do choose us, we promise to give your baby the most wonderful life imaginable. We will foster their natural talents, show them the wonders of the world, help them grow and learn through failures and challenges, and always enjoy life's simple pleasures, like picnics and riding bikes in the park, summer fun in the pool and holiday sleepovers with cousins, Disney movies and popcorn, and home-cooked family dinners. We will smile, laugh and celebrate with them through the joyful times and comfort and console them during the lows. Above all, our love for them will know no bounds, and they will never question how much they're loved by us and by you.

If you feel like we could be the right match, it'd be our greatest privilege to get to know you. We assure you that you and your baby will always be loved wholeheartedly, and your baby will always know that you are the most selfless, strong, brave, and loving mother—a true angel in every sense. We honor and respect wherever your heart leads you.
