ABOUT US

Hi there! We are a family of five who love time together in the outdoors, with friends and family, and going on outings like the park, zoo, or playplaces. Keith works in law enforcement with a flexible schedule, so he is available to be an involved dad. Savannah hung up her career as a pastry chef to stay at home with the kiddos. Each day we go on excursions outside on our property, to play with friends, or just run errands together. We as parents enjoyed sports growing up and look forward to watching our kids play them too. We are very involved in our church, where our friends there have become like family. We get together with them and their kids frequently and have a Friendsgiving each year. We have some family close and some extended family spread out but spend time with them all as often as we can!

OUR HOME & PETS

We moved this past year to a slightly bigger house on some land so our kids have a place to run and play. Here in the Midwest, we have four houses on our street and a good friendship with the neighbors. There are several parks close by that we enjoy, and the community here often plans events supporting the high school teams and special seasonal gatherings. Our kids aren't in school just yet, but we have good choices around us for their education. We have a wonderful zoo we maintain a membership to and visit frequently! Our sweet pup passed away this year of cancer, but we recently took in a little stray kitten and are making her part of the family. We've named her Lilly.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

We have talked about adding to our family again and were captured by the opportunity to adopt. We believe children are a gift but completely understand how a child is life altering and difficult to take on at any point in life. Every life is precious, valuable, and worthy. We wanted to make ourselves available to give a mother hope and a future for her baby within our home. We have many families around us who have adopted children and have seen the beauty in building their family in that way. We have more love to give and would be immensely grateful for the chance to bring another sweet baby into our home.

OUR FAMILIES & TRADITIONS

We have one set of grandparents close and another that travels often to visit. The kiddos have three uncles and two aunts plus three fun, energetic boy cousins. We have a blast anytime we're all together! It's crazy but always worth it. Birthdays and holidays are fun times for us, and we gather as we can for each occasion to celebrate. Christmas lights are a must, and we try to go see them several times during the season. We always say we'll keep birthdays simple but end up going overboard because we can't help it!

Granddaddy and Grammy love the outdoors and have helped us grow a love for being outside, whether it's hiking, playing in the trees, or just cozying up by the backyard campfire. Grandma and Grandpa love sightseeing and museums and take us to see fun and interesting places!

We both had the privilege of traveling with our families as kids and look forward to doing that with our own kiddos too!

DEAR EXPECTANT MOTHER,

The first thing we want to say is how brave and courageous you are for caring so much about this baby to consider adoption as part of their future. You are looking at a heavy, difficult decision but one that would honor and respect you both. You are incredibly important, and your life is so valuable. If you are exploring adoption, it shows you are strong and very capable of carrying this baby but also so much more. It is no weakness at all to make this decision but the exact opposite. We have walked through pregnancy ourselves and know the strength it takes. We thank you so much for your willingness and courage to consider this! If you choose to, your sacrificial giving of yourself and your baby will be a gift that cannot receive enough praise and thanks. There aren't enough words to say how amazing this choice and gift of life is.

The second thing is that we are so eager to show your baby all the love in the world. Life circumstances that lead to adoption are often very complicated, but we want you to know your baby will be in a wonderful, loving, and safe home with parents, three playful and loving siblings, and opportunities to succeed in life, relationships, vocation, and education. Having lived, trained, and prepared for the care of all kinds of children, we are so excited to have this chance to give a peaceful and joyful home to your baby.

With love,

SAVANNAH & KEITH
