about us

We are a dynamic, easy-going couple who balance drive and fun in our lives. Jasmine works as a compensation specialist at a global consulting firm, combining her expertise in psychology with her love for problem solving. She also expresses her creativity through painting and exploring the arts. Chris, on the other hand, is a demand planner at a manufacturing plant, excelling in his organized and strategic role. While both share a passion for travel, Chris's focus on fitness and exercise complements Jasmine's artistic inclinations. In our everyday lives, our personalities reflect a playful "jock and nerd" dynamic, bringing balance and energy to our shared adventures. Thanks to the internet, our love story began on Match.com, showing how technology can bring people together in meaningful and lasting ways.

OUR HOME & PETS

Our home is in a vibrant metropolitan area in the South, nestled within a secure gated community. The neighborhood is family friendly, with tree-lined streets, nearby parks, and plenty of local attractions to explore. One of the highlights of our area is the highly rated school district, which adds to the sense of community and offers excellent opportunities for education. At home, we share our space with two beloved cats, Maureen and Margaret, who bring warmth and personality to our lives. They're an important part of our family, always ready to greet us with affection or entertain us with their playful antics.

WHAT LED US TO ADOPTION

We are thrilled about the opportunity to adopt because family means everything to us. While we can't have any biological children of our own, we've always loved being involved in the lives of the kids around us, whether they're the children of our friends or family. Chris's sister is adopted, so adoption has always felt natural and close to our hearts. We cherish the strong bonds we have with our families and are excited to extend that love by welcoming a child into our lives. The chance to create a loving, supportive home for a child fills us with hope and joy.

OUR FAMILY + traditions

Our extended family is a vibrant mix of cultures and personalities, reflecting our unique backgrounds. Chris is half Canadian and half American, while Jasmine is half Iranian and half American, which makes our family beautifully diverse. Chris's side of the family is cool, laid-back, and incredibly loving, while Jasmine's family is equally loving but brings a touch of drama and passion to the mix.

Both sides of the family enjoy spending time together, sharing stories, and celebrating traditions from different cultures. They get along wonderfully and are united in their excitement about welcoming a new baby into the family. Family gatherings are always full of laughter, card games, love, and meaningful connections, and we can't wait to share that with a child.

Dear Expectant Mother,

We cannot express how deeply grateful we are for your courage and selflessness. We know the decision you are facing is one of the most difficult imaginable, and we have endless admiration for the strength, love, and bravery it takes to consider this path. This decision is the ultimate act of love, and we promise to honor it every day by providing your child with a life filled with unconditional love, endless opportunity, and joyful adventure.

Adoption holds a special place in our hearts. Chris's sister was fostered at age six and officially adopted at age ten, and her journey has been a powerful example of how love and family can transform lives. We've seen firsthand the incredible bond that grows through adoption, and we deeply understand the impact of a mother's selflessness. Watching Chris's sister thrive into the confident, kind, and accomplished woman she is today has inspired us to embrace this journey ourselves.

You will always hold a special place in your child's story and in our hearts as the hero who gave them—and us—the most incredible gift imaginable. We will ensure that your child knows how extraordinary and loved they are and how your courage and sacrifice shaped the beautiful life they will have.

Thank you for considering us to be part of this incredible journey.

With love and gratitude,

Chris + Jasmine
